This Luxembourg-domiciled SICAV mirrors Martin Currie's successful £481 million UK-domiciled North America OEIC fund. Generali International chose to add this Fund based on the strong long-term performance record of the highly rated OEIC fund. The Fund has a proven stock-picking approach that delivers a conviction portfolio of the best 40 stock ideas in North America. Coupled with this is the fact that the Fund is managed by an experienced and award-winning North American team, supported by a dedicated team of sector managers, who are able to put North American stock opportunities in a global context.

Why choose this fund?

- Conviction

Martin Currie is a market leader in North American equities. The Fund's stock-picking approach delivers a conviction portfolio of the best 40-stock ideas identified in North America, with no underweight positions at stock level.

- Award-winning

Partnership between proven, award-winning managers - Tom Walker and David Forsyth - and an experienced research team who are able to put North American stock opportunities into a global context.

*Due to the recent launch of the Martin Currie North America Sicav Fund (June 2008), 12 month performance data is not available. - Stock-picking

The top quartile returns generated by the UK-domiciled Martin Currie North American Fund relative to the MSCI North America index over the past five years, demonstrate that, at a time when there is a significant polarisation between winners and losers, a bottom-up stock-picking approach is the best way to capitalise on the opportunities in North America.

- No style bias

The Martin Currie GF - North American Fund has no style bias. This is a core Fund that invests in positive change, while considering value and growth at a reasonable price. It has a fully-integrated investment process, which combines fundamental research and committed stock selection with quantitative screening.

Why choose this sector?

- Exposure to world-leading companies

An investment in North America is no longer simply a play on a regional economy. Rather, it is a means of gaining exposure to the global economy, and to some of the companies best placed to profit from it. It is therefore a market that no serious investor can afford to ignore.

- Strong relative performance

Martin Currie has a proven record of investing in North America and launched its first dedicated North American fund in 1983. As shown in the following table, the UK-domiciled version of this fund has an industry-leading long-term track record. The fund's fully-integrated approach, which combines bottom-up stock-picking with a top-down perspective, has helped to generally outperform the sector average during periods of rising markets, while protecting the downside in periods when the market fell.

The Martin Currie GF North American Fund was launched as a direct response to demand from investors who want to access Martin Currie's expertise in North America, but prefer the structure of a Luxembourg-domiciled SICAV.

This is an actively managed portfolio, with no style bias. At Martin Currie we downplay market indices and focus instead on finding just 40 high conviction stock ideas; we believe that a focus on stock-picking is the only way to outperform.
